

3

EMOTIONAL REACTION

Emotions like fear, anger and surprise play a role in the spread of misinformation online. Emotional reactions override our critical faculties and affect our abilities to check facts. In the heat of the moment, it is easy to share information too hastily.